

Evolution of PM2.5 annual average concentration

Between 2000 and 2015, all cities in the sample reduced their annual average concentration of PM2.5 particles. However, some of them still did not comply with WHO's maximum recommended concentration level of 25 µg/m3.

